

KOLNER STRIKES BACK AT BROWN

Defends His Record as Commissioner of Agriculture and Immigration.

"FALSEHOODS," HE DECLARES

Accuses Opponent of Trying to Blast Reputation in Order to Get Office.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., July 23.—G. W. Kolner, Commissioner of Agriculture, addressed the voters of Charlottesville and Albemarle counties in the courthouse this afternoon. Despite the short notice an interested audience gathered and gave Mr. Kolner splendid attention throughout. At the close of the address many went forward to shake hands with the speaker and to express their approval of his work. Mr. Kolner was highly gratified at his reception here.

Mr. Kolner discussed his work as Commissioner of Agriculture and Immigration in Virginia during the past ten years, and showed the advancement and progress in all farm matters. He then made the following reply to Mr. Brown's speech at Harrisonburg:

I had hoped that Mr. Brown would conduct his canvass in a dignified and becoming way. I know that the people of Virginia dislike vituperation and slander among Democrats in a Democratic primary, but Mr. Brown has chosen these methods, and this course at once suggests to the minds of every one the weakness of himself and his cause. In his opposition to me he tells the people absolutely nothing about his public record, but he says what he would do for the improvement of agriculture in Virginia or help the farmers of the State that is better than my work of the past ten years. He began and continued his campaign with abuse and criticism of my work in the Department of Agriculture, that is malicious and slanderous, without any foundation of fact. He cannot deceive the people of Virginia by untruthful statements. He says that I have done nothing to stimulate agricultural progress in this State. He knows, and every one else knows, that such a statement is false, and this is a sample of his reckless and wild statements. He shows that he is in desperate straits to make a canvass. My ten years' work is before the people, and everybody knows that the farmers are doing better farming now than ever before.

He says that I had nothing to do with the passage of the fertilizer law; that a former employee under me prepared the bill and managed its passage through the Legislature.

Remarkable Christmas Present.

Among the curious Christmas presents of this year will be one for a man of national reputation, which has been all year in the making.

Way last January the present was decided upon, and a friend of the prominent gentleman requested the Burrell Press Clipping Bureau of New York to watch every paper in America, and to take up every item which appeared concerning the man.

The clipping bureau people followed instructions, and now present the history of one year in the life of this special man.

The history ends just after election, and the 20,642 newspaper items found include everything from a three-line editorial mention to full-page illustrated stories. These have been mounted on 3,200 great sheets of Irish linen paper and bound into three massive volumes.

At the head of each item is the name and date of paper clipped from, this information having been put in with a book typewriter. The words thus inserted amount to 53,852.

In actual time, a very strict record of which has been kept, the work has required sixty-four working days throughout the year, and has kept in employment during that time thirty people as readers, clippers, sorters, mounters and binders. Every newspaper of importance is represented.

This is merely a specimen of some of the unique orders which get into the Burrell Press Clipping Bureau, and the fact that clippings are used by individuals and by business concerns seems to be remarkable.

There are many people in private as well as in public life who need press clippings and don't know it. It might be well for them to look up this man Burrell, who is said to be so well known that a letter simply addressed "Burrell, New York," will reach him with no delay.

was a fact well known at that time that I had charge of the management of the tonnage tax bill for the department, which was passed by the Legislature, and that I appeared before the legislative committee with all the help that I could get to secure the passage of the bill.

Mr. Barker, the president of the Board of Agriculture, writes me that he, with others, appeared before the legislative committee with myself, and advocated the passage of the tonnage tax bill, which is the bill that became a law, and which bill the fertilizer law, which was strongly opposed. Mr. Brown states that I have not enforced the law, and that only one prosecution has been made from the seizures of fertilizers that have been reported. The facts are that every seizure, that was not of a trivial nature, such as tags having been torn off the bags, or where the tags of another State were used by mistake, were reported to the Commonwealth's Attorney of the county, for prosecution, in which the seizures were made, as follows:

Three (3) seizures in Norfolk county turned over to Commonwealth's Attorney.

Five (5) seizures in Nansemond county turned over to Commonwealth's Attorney.

One seizure in Caroline county turned over to Commonwealth's Attorney.

One seizure in Spotsylvania county turned over to Commonwealth's Attorney.

One seizure in Rockingham county turned over to Commonwealth's Attorney.

One seizure in Accomac county turned over to Commonwealth's Attorney.

One seizure in Falmouth county turned over to Commonwealth's Attorney.

Two (2) seizures in Clarke county turned over to Commonwealth's Attorney.

Two (2) seizures in Frederick county turned over to Commonwealth's Attorney.

One seizure in Fauquier county turned over to Commonwealth's Attorney.

One seizure in Northumberland county turned over to Commonwealth's Attorney.

Making nineteen (19) seizures in all reported to the Commonwealth's Attorney for prosecution. This is a sample of the injustice that Mr. Brown is spreading over Virginia in the hope that he may with them deceive the people and occupy the head of a department of the Commonwealth by ten years of hard work and faithful service.

ment brought in a large increase of new names at $250.
Dr. Lafferty's residence in that conference territory and association with the brethren gave him favor among them. The revenue of the paper rose rapidly, and in 1871, the second half interest was sold for twice the net sum of the first half in July of 1871. The gross amount of 1874 was $4,000, with drawback of $1,300.45, making the net price $2,699.55. The net price of the second half of the paper in 1877 was double that of 1874.

The Advocate had been carried on by Dr. Lafferty since 1877, without a loss to the church of a single dollar. Some years ago Dr. Lafferty bought the Baltimore conference organ. He thought it prudent at his age to distribute the ownership; so a few years ago the papers were incorporated.

His Public Career.
The public career of Dr. Lafferty has been sketched in various papers, and prints of his face have made the public familiar with his appearance. He has lectured in the principal cities of several States and in the Southern States. For fifteen years he gave much time to lecturing for churches and parsonages in the Virginia Conference, contributing many thousands of dollars.

As a preacher, Dr. Lafferty was interesting and often very effective. The subject chosen was apt to be unusual and the treatment quite aside from the common line. The characteristics of style, in general, were those of his writings, eliminating the humorous and satirical.

Early in the sixties Dr. Lafferty was married to Miss Mattie A. Brown, of Albemarle county, a representative of the ancient family of Methodists of the South. Of eight children, two were cut off in infancy and two have died after reaching mature life. Thus, with a happy lot in domestic life, these parents tasted also the cup of deep sorrow. Their home had always been a place of warm and open hospitality and of refined Christian courtesy.

Dr. Lafferty was a native of Virginia, born in 1837, the only child of George and Elizabeth Lightfoot Lafferty. The father (educated in Ireland) was a member of the staff of Colonel Charles Panton Mercer Garnett, the engineer who surveyed the railroad running out of Virginia across the Roanoke into North Carolina.

Dr. Lafferty's mother was of the historic Virginia family of the Lightfoots.

When the son was eleven months old the father, with some friends, was drowned at the ferry on James River called Osborne. A sudden wind struck their carriage, and it was hurled into the water. The father, in various locations, was robbed to a large extent.

The Washington and Lee University conferred "doctor of letters" on Emory and Henry, the "master of arts."

FINALLY LANDED IN COUNTY JAIL

Mrs. Tarbox Brought from New York to Dinwiddie on Murder Charge.

HELD FOR KILLING HUSBAND

She Denies Knowledge of Crime, but Refuses to Discuss the Case.

The Times-Dispatch Bureau.
109 North Sycamore Street,
Petersburg, Va., July 23.

Sheriff Galusha, of Dinwiddie, has returned from Springfield, N. Y., having in custody Mrs. Mary Tarbox, who is charged with the murder of her husband, Daniel Tarbox. This was the second visit of the sheriff to New York after the woman, the first requisition for her not having been honored by Governor Hughes on the ground of defective evidence. After this failure the grand jury of Dinwiddie indicted Mrs. Tarbox, and backed by this indictment and evidence in the form of depositions, the sheriff went again to New York, and this time was successful in his mission. Daniel Tarbox, who was about sixty-four years of age, disappeared from his home, near Church Road, on the 17th of May. After some days his body was found in the woods near-by, and examination indicated that he had been shot to death. But before the discovery of the body Mrs. Tarbox had left her home after disposing of her household and personal effects, and had drawn her husband's money from the bank in this city. She seemed to have made a secret of her intention to return to her home in Springfield, N. Y., where it is stated she is respectively connected. Sheriff Galusha and his prisoner were in the city a very short time this morning, as they took a train directly for the county seat, where Mrs. Tarbox was placed in jail. Her trial will not take place until the September term of the Circuit Court, and in the meanwhile she will remain in jail. She has denied the charge of the murder of her husband, and has nothing more to say about it. The matter was not discussed between her and the sheriff on their trip from New York to Virginia, and the sheriff did not attempt to draw her out on the subject. The details of this case have been very fully published in The Times-Dispatch. The case has excited a great deal of interest in the county, though the parties are in jail. Little comment is made with people of the county. The evidence against the woman is altogether circumstantial.
